JBT expands its global presence with the acquisition of D&M Plastics, now operating under JBT USA

JBT Group recently completed a strategic acquisition of D&M Plastics Inc., a company based in Burlington, Illinois. This acquisition solidifies JBT Group's standing as a key player in the healthcare and medical device sectors on the global stage.

Since 1972, D&M Plastics, LLC has established itself as a leading player in the field of plastic injection molding. The company holds ISO 9001 and ISO 13485 certifications, with a significant presence in the healthcare sector, generating over 80% of its revenue there. JBT's strategic investment will expand the company's production space, which currently stands at over 5,000 square meters, improving its operational capacity and supporting the continued growth of its business.

JBT Group specializes in the design and manufacturing of high-precision injection-molded plastic parts for the healthcare industry. The company's integrated value chain - from mold manufacturing to final assembly - ensures operational excellence and strict compliance with the most demanding quality standards in the pharmaceutical industry.

With industrial facilities in France, Hungary, Mexico, and Tunisia, JBT is recognized as a trusted partner by leading global CDMOs, with whom it develops customized devices.

Founded in 1963 in Molinges (Jura, France), the family-owned group chaired by Maryse Eyssautier was supported in the transaction by the GEI fund and Bpifrance Investissement.

Philippe Cadot, CEO of JBT, explains "We are pleased to welcome the D&M Plastics teams, who share our vision of industrial excellence in the service of healthcare customers. This strategic acquisition will strengthen JBT's ability to offer local, agile, and reliable industrial solutions to support the critical developments of our North American customers in ISO7 cleanrooms. »

Chip Owen of D&M Plastics adds: "As our discussions progressed over the past few months, it became clear that JBT was the perfect partner to take D&M to the next level. Our customers and our team members are in good hands as we move forward, and we are all truly excited for what lies ahead."

Marti Tremonti, Site Director of D&M Plastics now operating as JBT USA :

"From the beginning of the process with JBT, it is very clear that the D&M team members are being welcomed into the JBT group family. The team members see a great opportunity for growth, both personally and professionally, and are very excited to take the next steps as JBT team members."

ABOUT

JBT has seven sites equipped with ISO7 and ISO8 clean rooms. The group's expertise encompasses every stage of the manufacturing process, from innovation and research and development to post-injection operations, including mold manufacturing and the injection of custom-made devices. JBT has become a leading subcontractor with a strong international presence in Mexico, Tunisia, Hungary, and the USA. This enables it to support major international healthcare companies as a CMO. The Group's culture of industrial excellence is evident in its continuous investments.
